Built an operating platform behind products delivering $2M+ annual sell-through

The Double-Edged Dilemma for Beverage Producers in Southeast Asia

- SMEs with ambitions of building Southeast Asia's next big beverage brand collide with industrial MOQs and harsh logistical, supply chain, and cash flow crises.
- Institutional players struggle to keep up with fast consumer shifts because their data is often past its best-before date by the end of a slow development timeline.
- Result: one side cannot scale efficiently, the other cannot adapt fast enough, and both lose speed, margin, and market relevance.
- This is the exact operating gap I help clients close.

Actionable System I Implement (Built from 10+ Years in Market)

- Step 1 - Partner stack: leverage the region's strongest strategic partners for R&D, production, packaging, and route to market.
- Step 2 - MOQ-aware build plan: sequence pilot-to-scale production in Thailand and Vietnam across Brewery, Distillery, and RTD to avoid cash burn.
- Step 3 - Supply continuity by design: lock critical raw material flow, including hops from USA and New Zealand, with quality/spec alignment and dual-lane planning.
- Step 4 - Commercial math: build channel-specific price architecture and margin logic before launch, not after discounting pressure starts.
- Step 5 - Execution cadence: run launch governance that shortens development-to-shelf cycles and keeps decisions tied to live market signals.

Hyper-Specific Operating Model: Source Global, Produce Local,

- Raw materials: hop procurement from the USA and New Zealand with quality/spec alignment and cost controls.
- Production backbone: partner plants in Vietnam and Thailand across Brewery, Distillery, and RTD categories.
- Packaging network: coordinated can, bottle, closure, and label suppliers to protect lead time and cash flow.
- Regional flow: finished goods exported to convenience store channels in Taiwan and Japan.
- Market expansion support: launch blueprints for clients opening new beverage markets in Laos.

Result: diversified supply continuity with practical production optionality across countries and categories.

Route-to-Market and Pricing Strategy by Market

Thailand + Vietnam

- Position portfolio by channel: modern trade, convenience, and on-trade activation.
- Set margin architecture for producers, importers/distributors, and retailers.
- Build launch calendars tied to local demand windows, events, and consumer behavior.
- Run SKU-by-SKU pricing ladders to protect both velocity and gross margin.

Laos Market Entry

- Define import or local production model based on tax and duty realities.
- Build first-wave assortment with clear opening price points and premium anchors.
- Train distributor teams on product story, outlet pitch, and sell-in mechanics.
- Stage rollout by city and outlet class to maximize conversion with controlled risk.

A Working Network Built Over a Decade

Supply + Production Partners

- Hop and ingredient suppliers in the USA and New Zealand.
- Manufacturing partners in Thailand and Vietnam covering beer, spirits, and RTD.
- Packaging suppliers for cans, bottles, cartons, and labels with scalable capacity.
- Quality and operational alignment across partners to speed launch readiness.

Commercial Partners

- Distributors and route-to-market operators across Thailand, Laos, and Vietnam.
- Retail and convenience channel relationships in Taiwan and Japan export routes.
- On-trade account development through practical pricing and menu placement strategy.
- Cross-functional partner management to maintain execution standards and timelines.

Cross-Category Execution Capabilities

- Brewery: concept-to-commercialization support for craft and premium beer portfolios.
- Distillery: liquid positioning, production planning, and go-to-market design for spirits.
- RTD: speed-to-market product development and scalable production transition support.
- Integrated portfolio strategy to prevent channel conflict and maximize total account value.

Selected Outcomes Delivered

- Built and operated systems behind Mahanakhon products now exceeding $2M annual retail + on-trade revenue.
- Structured practical supply chain pathways linking global ingredient sourcing to regional production execution.
- Developed export-ready operating flows for convenience store channels in Taiwan and Japan.
- Supported market-opening strategy for Laos with channel-specific launch sequencing and price architecture.

How I Work With Beverage Companies

Advisory + Operating Sprint

- 30-90 day focused engagements for market entry, product launch, or supply chain redesign.
- Workstreams: sourcing, plant partner selection, packaging readiness, pricing, and channel plan.
- Weekly decision cadence with leadership team and execution owners.
- Output: clear operating playbook with accountability and rollout checkpoints.

Fractional NPD Leadership

- Embedded support for teams that need senior NPD and commercialization leadership.
- Cross-functional bridge between procurement, operations, marketing, and sales.
- Focus on profitable scale, not just innovation theater.
- Output: repeatable launch process that compounds over multiple product cycles.

Best Fit Engagements

- Global or regional beverage companies entering Southeast Asia.
- Established players needing stronger execution in Thailand, Vietnam, or Laos.
- Teams expanding across beer, spirits, and RTD categories with shared infrastructure.
- Businesses seeking local operator credibility plus strategic clarity at executive level.
